BOMBAY ACT No. XLII OF 1949.1

[The Bombay Prevention of Ex-communication Act, 1949.]†

[1st November 1949]

Adapted and modified by the Adaptation of Laws Order, 1950.
Adapted and modified by the Bombay Adaptation of Laws (State and Concurrent Subjects) Order, 1956.
Amended by Bom. 2 of 1960.

An Act to prohibit ex-communication in "[the State of Bombay]."

WHEREAS it has come to the notice of Government that the practice prevailing in certain communities of ex-communicating its members is often followed in a manner which results in the deprivation of legitimate rights and privileges of its members;

AND WHEREAS in keeping with the spirit of changing times and in the public interest, it is expedient to stop the practice; It is hereby enacted as follows:

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bombay Prevention of Ex-communication Act, 1949.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "community" means a group of the members of which are connected together by reason of the fact that by birth, conversion or the performance of any religious rite they belong to the same religion or religious creed and includes a caste or sub-caste;

(b) "ex-communication" means the expulsion of a person from any community of which he is a member depriving him of rights and privileges which are legally enforceable by a suit of civil nature by him or on his behalf as such member;

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause a right legally enforceable by a suit of civil nature shall include the right to office or property or to worship in any religious place or a right of burial or cremation, notwithstanding the fact that the determination of such right depends entirely on the decision of the question as to any religious rites or ceremonies or rule or usage of a community.

3. Notwithstanding anything contained in any law, custom or usage for the time being in force, to the contrary, no ex-communication of a member of any community shall be valid and shall be of any effect.

4. Any person who does any act which amounts to or is in furtherance of the ex-communication of any member of a community shall, on conviction, be punished with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

4 † This Act is extended to, and shall by virtue of such extension be in force in, the rest of the State of Bombay (vide Bom. 2 of 1960, s. 2).
Explanation.—When any person alleged to have committed an offence under this section is a body or an association of individuals, whether incorporated or not, if the offence is alleged to have been committed at a meeting of such body or association, any individual who has voted in favour of the decision regarding the ex-communication shall be deemed to have committed the offence.

5. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, V of no Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magis rate of the First Class shall try any offence punishable under section 4.

6. No Court shall take cognizance of an offence punishable under section 4,—

(a) after the expiry of one year from the date on which the offence is alleged to have been committed, and

(b) without the previous sanction of the [State] Government or any officer authorised by the [State] Government not below the rank of the Commissioner of Police [in any area for which a Commissioner of Police has been appointed] and the District Magistrate elsewhere.
